ROBERT HILLER, the famous wizard, is dead. His name, however, will be prominently abased by one or more slight-of-hand performers, leaving the forgeful to prove in doubt whether famous wizards do not live forever.

LOUIS GUETZ, the Indianapolis murderer of MARY McGRAW, a waiter-girl in the hotel of which he was clerk, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to death. The case was one of peculiar atrocity, and the punishment awarded is eminently just.

The latest information as to the fatalities in the Pomeranian disaster places the number at fifty-four, of whom thirty-seven were passengers and seventeen belonged to the crew. It is believed that but for the selfish brutality manifested by the sailors in crowding into the boat a soul need to have perished. It is to be regretted that there were not more SCHWENZENZES among the number.

The Chicago Socialists, having undertaken to direct the actions of their Representatives in the Illinois Legislature, have coolly proceeded to designate the person they shall vote for as a candidate for United States Senator. It has happened happily that the small body of Communists do not hold the balance of power, so that the nomination of MCALPINES has no significance except as a compliment to that individual which nobody will begrudge him.

There is a slight smell of gunpowder on the western frontier of Persia. The Shah has decided that the Province of Khotond, which the Turks claim by right of might, having an army of occupation therein, must become Persian territory, and has sent troops to that region to effect the cession of the province by force of arms. Perhaps the Shah, seeing that Turkey lies helpless at the feet of Europe, is determined to test the question as to how much vitality there is in the "Sick Man."

The Canadian vice-regal party left Halifax yesterday for Montreal, expecting to reach their destination to-morrow shortly after noon, as their railway train travels during the day only. The departure from Halifax was witnessed by a big crowd, among them the officers of the British war-vessel Sirius, which was sent out from Halifax eight days ago to meet the Sarmanian as a measure of precaution against possible Fenian cruisers. The Sirius encountered a continuation of thick and heavy weather, so that she failed to meet the Sarmanian, and her officers had the melancholy satisfaction of arriving in port the day after the splurge.

If Mr. ROUSSEL, who carried the Third North Carolina District against WADDELL, the present member and the regular Democratic candidate, be a fair specimen of the Southern "Independent" in politics, then the Republicans party and the country at large will find little cause for congratulation in the defeat of out-and-out Bourbons at the South. Mr. ROUSSEL is represented as saying that he is in favor of paying the Southern debt and pensioning the Confederate soldiers the same as the Union soldiers. This is a good beginning. We will not undertake to say where Mr. ROUSSEL will come out, but if he is a representative "Independent," we hope the South will henceforth return some but Bourbons to Congress.

The Internationals—or Communists, as they are better known in this country—are rapidly shutting out all places of refuge in Europe. Another attempt at assassination, in which Count ANDRAZER, the Austrian Premier, was to be the victim, occurred yesterday at Pest, Hungary. The Premier was entertained at dinner by Count TISZA, and a bomb was exploded below the window; the fact that no one was injured does not mitigate the offense, and will not serve to exonerate the Internationals from the responsibility which is sure to be laid at their door. It may be that an epidemic of recidivism has set in which is running its course without any special convenience on the part of the International organization; but, in every instance, it has been found that the would-be assassin has been more or less identified with the Communists. The recent attempts on the lives of the Emperor of Germany, the King of Spain, the King of Italy, high officials in Russia and now in Austro-Hungary, will induce the authorities of all those nations to assist each other in running the International leaders to the ground, so that the Society and its prominent members have little comfort to expect anywhere on the Continent of Europe for the next few years. The only consolation Americans can find in the circumstance is, that England furnishes a header and more accessible refuge for these people than the United States.

Secretary SCHNEIDER treats of the Indian question somewhat at length in his annual report, and what he has to say is of interest as coming from an official who has labored earnestly, and with a fair measure of success, to improve the condition of Indian affairs. He points out the importance of fairer treatment of the Indian in the protection of their reservations from encroachment by white settlers, and the necessity that they should have lands fit for agriculture and pasture, to the end that they may establish permanent homes, which cannot be done if white people are permitted to get their best lands by force or trickery. He regards a steady progress towards civilization as the surest and safest solution of the Indian trouble.

J. G. HILL, Supervising Architect of the Treasury, and A. G. MILLIS, agent and supervisor for MULLER, the contractor, were yesterday arrested in Washington by a Deputy Marshal from Chicago, and held in $5,000 each for their appearance in this city on the 16th of December. Secretary SHERMAN seems to have made up his mind to stand by HILL through thick and thin, and as HILL has not the delicacy to retire voluntarily, and the Secretary has not the sense of propriety which should suggest his immediate suspension pending trial upon the indictment, it is gratifying to know that President HAYES, with his customary regard for the purity and good repute of the public service, has HILL's retirement, doubtless upon the principle that an official under indictment is neither a benefit nor a credit to the service so long as the question of his guilt remains undecided.

THANKSGIVING—THE OLD AND THE NEW.

The President and the Governors of the several States have issued their proclamations commanding that this Thursday be set apart from the other days of the year by the people as a day of thanksgiving for the blessings showered upon them by a benign Providence. The institution of Thanksgiving, as a public observance, descends to us from the Pilgrim Fathers. The Puritans were a peculiar people, and although stern, dogmatic, and intolerant, they were certainly not less honest or less virtuous than other men. If they were aggressive, and disposed to force their opinions and customs upon others, they were not too hasty to learn wisdom by experience, or too stupid to change their views when convinced of error. Hence time has worn off the rough edges of Puritanism, as it has polished the manners of the typical Yankee; and, if we are in a measure compelled to thank them once a year, we are not driven into church like a parcel of school-boys and forced to kneel at the altar whether we will or no, on pain of being subjected to the penalty of flogging and a fine. If the manner of rendering thanks has been modified by the flight of years, the subjects deemed especially worthy of thanksgiving have also changed. Doubtless the Puritans were won on Thanksgiving Day, after having partaken of a breakfast of fried chicken, to repair to church and return fervent thanks for the burning of the last-known witch in the neighborhood; for the detection and punishment of the good-natured husband caught in the act of kissing his wife on Sunday; for the banishment of JOHN SMITH as a penalty for the free expression of "dangerous opinions"; for the order of the "General Court" prohibiting women from "meddling in surgery, or phisick, drinks, plasters, or ointments," and from "questioning masters of religion except with the elders for satisfaction"; for the righteous order of the General Court directing that all Quakers be seized, stripped to the waist, tied to a cart's tail, have their ears cut off, be whipped through Boston and the adjoining towns, and then banished, etc., etc.

Our correspondent says that the Western banks disown the Eastern bank war on the silver dollar. Perhaps so; but our columns have not contained yet a report of any action on the part of Western banks in disapproval of the nullification conspiracy of the New York and Boston banks. The first place, the reopening of the silver question has been solely the work of the New York and Boston banks, aided and abetted by the Eastern press and by the Secretary of the Treasury. These have resolved to discriminate against the lawful standard silver dollar. Not portion of the blame for the "acrimony," "bad temper," etc., exhibited in the discussion can be placed at the door of the Western press or public men. The Eastern banks and press have deliberately declared a war of nullification and falsehood, and their followers and sympathizers now cry out protesting against "bad temper" when they find the law-breakers likely to come out of the controversy in a battered condition.

Our correspondent says that the Western banks disown the Eastern bank war on the silver dollar.

THE BANKS AND THE SILVER QUESTION.

A correspondent writes us from Dubuque, Iowa, on the subject of the relations of the National banks and the Government in the matter of specie-payments. In this letter, which we print, our correspondent seems to aim to treat the subjects fairly, and when he does not do this it is perhaps because he is uninformed or has received erroneous impressions which have led him to erroneous conclusions.

In the first place, the reopening of the silver question has been solely the work of the New York and Boston banks, aided and abetted by the Eastern press and by the Secretary of the Treasury. These have resolved to discriminate against the lawful standard silver dollar. Not portion of the blame for the "acrimony," "bad temper," etc., exhibited in the discussion can be placed at the door of the Western press or public men. The Eastern banks and press have deliberately declared a war of nullification and falsehood, and their followers and sympathizers now cry out protesting against "bad temper" when they find the law-breakers likely to come out of the controversy in a battered condition.

In the first place, the reopening of the silver question has been solely the work of the New York and Boston banks, aided and abetted by the Eastern press and by the Secretary of the Treasury. These have resolved to discriminate against the lawful standard silver dollar. FINANCE AND TRADE.

Unsteadiness of Gold--Good Demand for Governments.

Weakness of New York Exchange--The Speculation in Granger Stocks.

The Produce Markets Steadier, with More Firmness in Most Departments.

A Quiet Day in Provisions and Broadcasts.

FINANCIAL.

Gold was unsteady. The opening New York quotation was 100%, the price then advanced to 100%, reached to 100% and closed at 100%. In State bonds, Virginia consols, second series, sold up to 38, against 31 at the last previous sale; Louisiana consols, 100%; and North Carolina, 100%, 17% to 17%.
